

Wired System

Wireless System

Wireless microphones convert sound into radio signals, which are transmitted through the air to a receiver. The receiver converts the radio signals back into audio signals for the PA system.

Wired System

Wireless System

Wired microphones work by converting sound into audio signals that are sent to the PA system through a cable.

